Comments of the owner:

"Living in The Dell has been a lovely experience. It has the benefits of being in the country with a bustling little town just down the road. We have had so many fab parties in our garden room - in the summer it would spill out into the garden with guests regularly sitting on picnic rugs all over the garden listening to live music. I always have at least twenty people for dinner on Christmas day so we would all be at a long table in the garden room with twinkling lights and a huge tree. I love to sit there on a summer evening and watch foxes playing and we have a little family of deer who are in our garden every morning around seven. It is lovely to sit on the deck on a summer morning having breakfast in the sunshine. It is a lovely relaxing place to live."
