This charming end of terrace Victorian home provides an abundance of natural light and airy accommodation over three floors. Over the ground floor, there is a large double reception room with a bay window, an unmodernised kitchen and septate dining area that leads onto a west facing garden.

The first and second floors include four double bedrooms, the principal bedroom is traditionally situated towards the front of the property and spans the full width. Whilst naturally well proportioned the property retains the potential to extend into both the loft and side return.

Solon Road is located in a residential area nestled between Clapham and Brixton and is within easy reach of many local amenities. Several nearby transport options include the Northern Line, Victoria Line & Overground Services.
